

TUMOR MUTATION REPORT

- Genetic changes in the cells of your child's cancer
- Report might include the following information:
  - Tumor mutations that are normally found in a different type of tumor from what your child was initially diagnosed with (very rare).
  - Tumor mutations that may suggest your child's tumor will respond better or worse to a particular cancer treatment.
    - We think this will be rare for most children during initial treatment.
    - It might be more common when a child's tumor has returned after standard treatment and additional treatment options are being considered.
